Veloce Inventory Management is for you if one of the following situations takes place in your company:

1. Excess inventory or shortages

- Thanks to the computerized purchasing lists and inventory-taking tools, you will better manage inventory levels in real-time and your purchasing will become much easier.

2. Waste, theft and overportioning

- An instant, precise variance report will let you follow inventory movements closely and compare theoretical and actual food cost.

3. Unit cost calculation

- The production cost of every dish you serve is adjusted automatically every time you enter purchases. In addition, you can get a price adjustment report for those dishes that have recorded excessive cost increases.

4. Multi-location inventory

- Very useful for bars, this function allows inventory transfers between locations as well as inventory-taking and variance reports by location or overall.

Proper raw product management can increase your profits in a very significant manner. At Veloce Systems, we are constantly innovating in order to offer you easy solutions to help you optimize your management effectiveness and maximize your profits.
